

Kindly sponsored by the Rotary Club
of Shetland

Shetland Mariners in the Great War

Laughton Johnson

Upper Foyer
Shetland Museum & Archives

Over 1,750 Shetlanders were merchant seamen in the First World War, as civilians who had to brave enemy action. This exhibition highlights some of the new research that reveals the men and ships' stories for the first time.

Opening 20 October 2018, to January 2019